

operation name: caritas für arbeit

operation summary:

The project aims at helping long term unemployed to participate in social life as well as in the labor market. In doing so it uses existing structures and networks i.e. employment agencies, other counseling services, or providers of vocational and advanced training. The main object is to help unemployed people to find a permanent job in the first labor market. Each participant has to go through an integration process where his or her resources, potentials and problems are analyzed. In the promotion plan, which is designed together with the participant, small-step and traceable sub-goals are developed, defined and reviewed. Moreover, when participants found a job in the labor market they will receive further support to ensure lasting success of the employment.
